FUMIGATION USELESS.

FLORIDA MAN'S OPINION OF THE YELLOW FEVER SCOURGE.

He Believes the Epidemie was Caused by Not Burning the Infected Articles o Last Year-People Who Live Temperate Lives not in Great Danger.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28,-D. G. Ambler, president of the National state bank of banking house in Jacksonville, is at the Grand hotel. His theory of the origin of the of the action of certain members of the state legislature in considering the relief bill, are of more than ordinary interest.

sent from Florida concerning the fever," said Mr. Ambler, "and the statement that negroes in organized bands are breaking into stores and dwellings is without foun-iation in fact. The white people would not tolerate such a state of affairs for twentyand people have been leaving the town by not been affected to any aiarming extent,

"The fever is, I think, directly traceable to the failure to destroy all infected clothes and infected buildings that spread the disease in 1887. Experience has shown that fumigation is valueless. The germs of the disease cannot be destroyed by that means. Whatever is infected must be burned and completely destroyed, and the people living in that district understand this very thoroughly. But just here is where the troubie comes in. You cannot destroy property, especially the property of a poor man, unless you compensate him for the loss, and when you do not compensate him you offer him an incentive for concealment. Beds and bedding, even after being used in his family in a fever sickness, represent a certain value. and if his family have recovered he sees no reason why this property should be destroyed.

"The appropriations made thus far by congress do not contempiate such payment. The money is used for the maintenance of quarantine camps and kindred purposes. It is to be deplored that in the consideration of this important matter, partisan feeling should have been exhibited. Senators Call and Pascoe, when the appropriation of $200,000 came up for consideration the other day, were anxious to have an amendment made to the blil providing for the setting aside of a specific portion of this amount for the payment of damages arising from the destruc-tion of property by direction of the health authorities. Surgeon General Hamilton, of the marine corps, took the same view, and was anxious to see the amendment pass, but it was defeated. Aithough it is claimed that a part of the money will be used for this pur pose, the bili goes to the secretary of the treasury with the record of the yea and nay vote attached to it.

"The fever this year originated in a small hamiet called Mantee. There are probably fifteen houses in it. Twenty thousand doihought ali of them and ali they contained. Ilad they been swept out of existence the fever would not have spread over an area of of fifty miles as it did. Placing a cordon about a town amounts to nothing. It would take an army to keep people isolated. They Grand MONTHLY Drawing, will not stand it, and it you undertake to them damages, serious trouble is bound to

> "As to the viruience of the disease in and about Jacksonville," continued Mr. Ambler, 'I want to say one thing. People who live fulrly temperate lives do not stand in any great danger. Out of eighty cases there were eight deaths, and of those eight four were persons who were addicted, to the excessive use of alcoholic ilquor and who exposed themselves injudiciously. We will have it all stamped out before October, I think, and if the plan of destroying the germs by fire can be carried out vigorously, I think we can prevent a reccurrence of the disease. This payment for damages cannot be done by the state nor by the county. It must be done by the Federal government. It is to be greatly regretted that politics should in any way have a connection with something that affects the health and consequent prosperity of a community."

There were sevon new cases and two deaths Sunday, at Jackson ville.

Strike on the P., D. & E.

MATTOON, Ill., Ang. 28.—The threatened strike of engineers and firemen of the Peoria, Decatur & Evansville railway took place at 2 p. m. Sunday, when all train crews had reached the ends of their runs in this city or the terminals of the lines. The yard crew in this city left a cut of cars where they were at work, ran the engine into the roundhouse and deciared the strike on. An excursion train followed by a freight, for Evansville, were the only trains which left this city Sunday. One hundred and fifty excursionists are left in Evansville, and not a train is moving on the line.

LATER-The strikers have all returned to work at the company's terms.

THE MESSAGE.

No Quernin of the Committee on Foreign Affairs-Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. - The house committee en fereign affairs met according to order, to consider the president's message on the fishery treaty. Only six member responded to the roll call, namely: Messrs McC reary, Hooker, Norwood, Rockwell, Merrow and Hitt.

As no quorum appeared, no effort was made to any transact any business and the Florida, and the head of the most prominent proceedings were confined to an informal discussion, which was mainly interesting from the fact that it revealed a strong disyellew fever epidemic, and of how it might position on the part of the three Democratic have been prevented, as well as his criticism of the action of certain members of the lated to Article 29 of the treaty of Washington, with the legislation that has been enacted touching entries of goods in bond at "There have been some exaggerated stories | United States ports for Canadiau consump-

The president's message and accompanying documents were not at hand when the committee met, and it is possible that several days will be consumed in preliminary discussion before the point of action is reached. Chairman Belmout sent a telegram from four hours. Business is, of course, affected, Bar Harbor, which was read to the committee present, as foliows: "I will certainly resecluded routes, but thus far credits have turn to take part in the consideration by the committee of the retaliation bill. I can not reach Washington Monday, but if there is an adjourned meeting I will be present." The impression prevails that the majority will agree to report the bill of Mr. Wilson, of Minnesota, with favorable recommendation and that it will lead to a prolonged debate in the house.

Grover Gives $10,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—President Cleveland has contributed his check for $10,000 to the Democratio campaign fund and his cabinet officers have also given good sums to the same object. It is said that the personal friends of the president have given alto-gether $150,000 to help carry on the campaign. W. C. Whitney, the secretary of the navy, headed the list, followed by by Caalrman Burnum, Herman Oelrichs, Secretary Endicott, Secretary Fairchild, Pat. Keily, of Minnesota; Postmaster General Dickinson, Oliver Payne and othera Mr. Scott, of Erie, contributed to the canvass $20,000, and the contribution of Chairman Brice exceeds even that sum.

Official Duties Prevent It.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 .- President Cieve land will not accept the invitation to attend the Grangers' interstate picnic and exhibition at Williams Grove, Pa. Representative William L. Scott will be present. The committee of Pennsylvania congressmen that waited on the president were not given a definite answer, but were informed that the official duties devolving upon Mr. Cieveland gave no promise of his being able to accept the invitation.

JAY GOULD INTERVIEWED.

He Anticipates a Good Season for Ruliroads-His Opinion of Politics.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Ang. 28.-Jay Gould was interviewed before leaving here Saturday. He said he anticipated a good season for the railroads, on account of the good

"I regard the decision of Judge Brewer, in the United States circuit court, of greater importance to the railroads than a good crop, in any single year," Mr. Gould continued. "I mean the decision restraining the state railroad commissioners from putting in a force the schedule of traffic rates prepared by them. The people of the west have the railroads, but have no ownership in them. That securities of the corporations are mostly held in the east and Europe is an unfortunate condition of affairs. Had the tendency of legislation not been checked by the courts railroad stocks and bonds would have been in a fair way to lose their investment value."

"I apprehend no serious injury to the husiness interests of the country no matter which political party wins," was Mr. Gouid's answer to a question on that point. "It is always claimed in political campaigns by each party that the success of the opposition means destruction to the industries of the country, but I notice that after election everything goes on nicely. Now I believe, for instance, that free wool will benefit rather than injure our manufacturers engaged in that branch of industry, for it wiil give them, free of duty, the raw material from England and Austria, where the quality is very fine, to mix with the commoner grade grown here. If the wool imported were of equal grade with onrs the effect might be different; but it is much superior. Yes, I think everything will go along pros-perously after the first week of next November."

THE CURRENT OPINION

IN EUROPE UNDOUBTEDLY TENDING WARWARD.

Bismarck Urging Italy On-French Comments on the Recent Interviews-The Persian Shah to Make a Tour of Europe. Trouble Brewing in Brazil-Foreign.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.-There is undoubtedly a strong current of opinion tending toward war. Its central idea is that Bismarck is trying to force a war upon France, and for that purpose is using Italy as his tool. A semi-official statement in Saturday evening's issue of the National Zaitung is one of the straws on the current It says: "The time has come when Italy must mark out precisely the limits of her foreign policy. If the Italian government finds it necessary to attack France, Germany must support her

The impression becomes stronger that the visit of Emperor William to the czar was not the mere exchange of courtesies which has been persistently reported, but that an understanding of some sort has been arrived at which, leaving the hands of Germany free, enables her to pursue a provocative policy against France in consert with Italy. This idea is strengthened by the fear, which amounts to a belief in London, that by an understanding with William the czar is about to stir up troubles for England on the borders of India, in fact that she is doing so. The Thibetans have invaded Sikkim and a conflict is certain. It has been long preparing, and meanwhile Russia has organized nominally a scientific expedition, under the command of Gen. Prejevalsky, which however, has the proportions of an invading horde, and is bound for Lhassa, the capital of Thioet.

Indeed, it has been long thought that Russian agents were stirring up the Thibetans to invade Sikkim, which the Thibetans claim as their own. It is thought that Russia aims at thus badgering Engiand on her Indian bordom and in fact and approximately than Indian Bordom and Indian Bordo her Indian borders, and in fact endangering her dominion of India, to force her to submit to Russia's demands in regard to Bulgaria, as Germany has professed herself willing to do. This, it is thought, would isolate Austria, give Russia her way to a certain limit and so avoid war. Of one thing there is no doubt, a great diplomatic game of some sort is being played.

The Shah of Persia.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Not to be outdone by the European monarchs, whose junketing trips from time to time attract the attention of the world, and exhaust the category of plausible reasous for their undertaking, the shah of Persia again announces his intention of favoring the continent with his presence and presumably astounding his hosts with some new oriental method of expressing his appreciation of their hospitality. His last visit to Europe is still fresh in the minds of his entertainers, most of whom were compelied to refurnish the apartments he occupied as soon as he vacated them, and his second coming must be looked forward to with dread by the sufferers from his first visit. It is surmised, however, that the king has weightier pleasure for again crossing bis native sands and submitting himself to the, to him, barbarous customs of the western antions.

The Russian expedition to Thibet is shrewdedly suspected by continental diplomats to be the forerunner of another attempt on the part of the czar to occupy Afghanistan, and perhaps a part of Persla if such occupation showed seem to be necessary, and it is considered not unlikely that the purpose of the shah's visit to Europe is either to effect the best possible terms with the czar or to secure the support of some European power in opposing him. The former, however, is regarded as the most probable, as the shah has every reason in the world to seek the friendship of the czar, and none to incur his enmity, while not even the monarch of Persia can be so ignorant of the present state of European affairs as to imagine that any continental power would deliberately array itself against Russia for ten fold the advantages that Nassr-Ed-Deen could offer. Of course, no one can say certainly until the visit is made what has induced the sbah to undertake it, but are the best of reasons for believing that he will not repeat his former unclean performances in any of the cities he may visit.

French Press Comments.

Paris, Aug. 28.—The interviews between the Itaian Minister Crispi and Bismarck and Kainoky in their turn, has concentrated upon Crispi and Bismarck the fire of the French press. A writer in Whist says of Crispi: 'Incoherence and tastlessness have marked all the recent policy of Crispi. 'He makes diplomacy a sport, and lives on it; may he die of it."

A writer in the Republican calis Crispi a yelping dog, whose bark France does not regard, and says: "If Bismarck thinks the time has come to fight us let him say so; but don't let him hound on his Tiszas and Crispis. We don't understand their barks." The most significant statement, however, is made in the Journal Matin, which says: "German unity is a monstrosity which enfeebled Europe, has endured too long, aud in the end she would break it. Germany knows that weil, heuce war is inevitable. Can anyone believe that Europe, which refused to submit the sanguinary but splendid glory of the first Napoleon, will bow forever beneath the weight of the German ferule, and go on ruining itself in armaments because two men, William I. and Bismarck, have thought fit to build up a German empire for the benefit of the Prussian monarchy? But, we repeat, France will not declare war. Public opinion is unanlinous on that point,"

Big Fire in Hamburg.

HAMBURG, Aug. 28.-Fire started this morning in Heinwarde, the southern part of this city on the other side of the river. The flames spread rapidly and warehouses and other buildings for a quarter of a mile ou the river side were burned. The shipping in the docks has mostly pulled out, but several vessels have been destroyed. It was at one time feared that the flames would cross the river, through the shipping, and com-municate with the vessels in the docks here. in which case the destruction of property would be immense. But the haufing out of vessels in the Heinwarde docks and a change | 112,000,000 in 1885, 85,000,000 in 1884, etc.

of wind averted the danger. The efforts of firemen were confined to preventing the spread of fiames to houses on the terrages above the river side. The loss of property on the docks and among the shipping is im-

Six persons have lost their lives by the flames. The fire has destroyed seven wareheuses at Stelnwarde, containing a large amount of cotton, rice, sugar and salt petre. The loss is estimated at 7,000,000 marks.

Revolution Pending in Brazil.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.-Consul Manton, who for nineteen years has been consul at Ceilenia, Uruguay, in an interview said that the recent emancipation of slaves by Brazil was simply a sep to a large number of the southern provinces of the empire.

The inhabitants of these provinces, he said, are ripe for a revolution, and it is likely that as soon Dom Pedro dies a con certed effort will be made to overthrow the throne and declare a republic in Brazil.

THE Democrats are the defenders of American industry. They alone offer it protection; they seek alone the independence and aggrandizement of domestic labor by liberating it from unnatural restraints and allowing it the undisturbed possession and complete enjoyment of its own earnings.

On the other hand the Republicans offer it a monopolized market in which to buy the necessaries of life, and a labor market subject to the caprices of trusts. In short they promise it the inestimable boon of working in the protected industries where no share of the bounty alleged protection affords is alloted to labor, and of bearing in common with the rest of the United States the terrible exactions of the protective system to enrich the privileged classes.

Will the workingmen accept that generous tender and vote with the monopoly party under coercion of the employer?

ON A DULL DAY.

SCENES IN WALL STREET WHEN BUSINESS IS STAGNANT.

A Light Ripple of Interest-At the Pie and Sandwich Counter-Richest Woman in America-Initiating a New Comer. After Business Hours.

Things are dead as a door nail on the stock market. The clerks and messenger boys who come and go from the Exchange travel at a walk, and the doors that slam behind them give exit to none of the noises uative to a busy day on the floor. A few late breakfasters are playing knife and fork at Delmonico's, and not a broker among them. They are, to a man, lawyers, whose trade thrives when all others are dull. The scattered loungers against the railings and teleopening of the baseball game, and the couple of brazen voiced curbstone brokers with privileges to sell shout their seductive propoman leads a melancholy dog up and down, as if he expects a purchaser to drop from the skies. Both man and dog took hungry.

A reporter from some news agency goes by at a run, and an iutimate among the idlers hails him:

"Hey, Jack! who's busted!"

"Blodge," shouts the reporter, as he vanishes under the Stock Exchange, to make a short cut by the basement into Broad street. This starts a little ripple of interest. Blodge gone up, ch? Well, any one might have expected it. There isn't a dollar in the bucket shop business any more. A man is an infernal fool who plays a cent in them.

A whistle blast, announcing that it is 12 o'clock, brings a stream of brokers out of the Stock Exchange doors, and for the time being makes the street lively enough. Delmonico's fills up, but the biggest crowd is at the end where the ten cent pie and sandwich counter is. Only two bottles of champagne are visible seated melancholy has possession of the shaven

Dodging out of one of the nests of offices on Broad street comes an elderly woman in a shabby gown, with a hand sachel bulging to bursting clutched in her ungloved hand. A foxy faced man, with a green baize bag to identify his trade by, trots beside her, listening submissively to her observations, and a hush of awe falls on the street during her passage. Among the whispered fragments of commont that follow them you may catch a few, such as:

"Betsy Brown."

"Richest woman in America." "Bet you the beers she's got a million in that gripsack."

"Heard she's gone in for J. P. S. Consolldated."

Two or three men who have a few quarters left hurry oif to the nearest bucket shop to buy J. P. S. Consolidated for a rise, because Betsy Brown is sald to have gone in for it.

Later, the members discover a new comer. He is a smartly dressed young fellow, who has lately bought a seat, and who has been appearance of the theatrical visitors. His surrounding atmosphere. "Cucumbers," new associates hail him with much effusion. One grasps his haud warmly.

"My dear boy," ho says, "so glad to see you here, upon my word, I am."

He compresses the new member's hand in a grip that makes him squirm, while another conspirator snatches the new member's new white hat off and tosses it into the air. In a flash the whole exchange is in an uproar. The hat bounds and rebounds in the air like a ball, never getting lower than the line of heads. A circle forms around the astonished new member and commences a weird and barbarie dance, accompanied by a chant that would do credit to a band of Apache Indians on the war path. The new member, who had till now forgotten all about the hazing that the exchange practices, makes an attempt to break the circle and reach the door, and becomes lost in a tangle of stockbrokers who rend the welkin with the most unearthly and inhuman cries. The visitors are in an ecstasy and applaud wildly. When the new member finally bolts out at a back door, with his spring suit in ribbons, he is followed by a howi that must be audible in Jersey.

A truck loaded with sacks of silver dollars, like bags of meal, jolts away from the subtreasury, and breaks down a dozen yards off. This gives the unemployed mob something to look at, while the driver and a couple of volunteer assistants stack the treasure up along the curbstone, to await the arrival of another truck. By ten minutes past 8 the exchange is locked up, New street is empty, and Broad street nearly so. The bar tenders commence to wash up their glasses for the day, and the waiters gather in the corners of the restaurants, and compare their returns with darkening brows; in the brokers' offices the charwomen begin to sweep out, and in the beer saloons the men with dogs, and shoestrings, and playing cards, and what not else to sell, industriously work the free lunch counter, and talk as solemnly of the dreadful dulluess as if they were personally interested in the millions that have not chauged hands. The brokers are going up town a-foot and on wheels, but mostly a-foot. They do it for oxercise, they say. It is a peculiarity of Wall street that a bear market is always amazingly provocative of athleticism among the brokers, while luxury and a desire for ease and repose come in as invariably when the bulls have the field to themselves -Aifred Trumble in The Argonaut.

Beating Carpets in Puris. American housewives engrossed in the cares of house cleaning, may thank their stars they do not live in Paris. The conseil de Salubrite of that city has recently discovered the inconvenience of allowing carpets to be brushed and beaten in the open air in the vicinity of inhabited houses on account of the dust which is so raised, and especially on account of the bacteria which may be set free when the carpets come from houses where zymotio diseases have existed. The conseil has, therefore, decided that this operation will be allowed only under the following conditions: The carpets must be brushed and beaten in entirely shut up rooms, and the dust deposited on the floor will be washed with water containing some disinfectant of potent action; strips of wool etc., will be in The Epoch. burned immediately.—Chicago News.

THE PILOT'S WIFE.

The moon shines out, with here and there a star, But furious cloud ranks storm both stars and moon:

The mad sea drams upon the harbor bar. Will the tide slacken soon? O, sea, that took'st my roungest, wilt thou

And the sea answered through the black night

"I took thy youngest. Shall I spare to-night?" The thundering breakers sweep and slash the sands:

To westward, io! one line of cream white foam; I raise to darkling heaven my helpless hands; I watch within the home

O. sea, that took'st my eldest, wilt then save?" -And the sea answered as frem out a grave, "I slew thine eldest son for my delight."

'The giant waves plunge o'er the shingly beach; The tawny maned great flons of the sea With pitiless roar howl down all human speech. Is God far off from me? O, sea, that slewest my sons, mine husband spare! The sea's wild laughter shook and rent the air: Lo! on the beach a drown'd face deadly white, -George Barlow in Beigravia.

Better Be Getting Away.

I would strongly advise every German in the United States who has any idea of assisting his friends or relations from Fatherland. to perfect his arrangements and get them out here at once. I say this because one of the first things the new emperor is likely to do in pursuance of his policy will be to prevent culgration by all the means in his despotic power. He is for war, and will want them to do his fighting-not alone the high boru dandies but the hard handed soldiers from the plow and the work bench. The emperor is wild for the grandest game in life; he longs to hear the earth quivor with the thunder of the guns-yes, even to hear the bullets singing in his ears, though that is a pleasure not often enjoyed by men in his high station. His ancestors won fame; he, with his lame left hand, must have like glory, and he must have men who will sacrifice their lives in slanghter so that he may rido under the Lindon In triumph

Therefore, friends and fellow citizens, you who have fathers, brothers, sons and friends who are liable to carry a gun, not for vaterland, but for the glorification of Wilhelm the Second, look lively, before the ports are closed and emigration to this land of peace, freedem and plenty becomes a crime by order of the emperor, -- Once a Week.

Growing by Electric Light.

It is said that trees planted under the electris light increase in size much more rapidly than those set out under ordinary circumstances. It is finely illustrated in Fairfield just at present, where at a street corner stands a little tree that was set out there last spring. It grew fairly well last season without the electric light, but this senson, under Its effulgent rays, it has stretched out with great rapidity, far outstripping all its fellows at the same time.

The explanation of this unusual growth, given by the scientist on the opposite side of the street, is that the tree grows both day and night, the electric light taking the place of the sun at night. Under all the circumstances this would seem a very plansible explanation, and if it is true the electric light will come into general use in hot houses and other places where it is desirable to force vegetation. -Fairfield Journal.

How to Eat a Cucumber.

"Cool as a cucumber," says an exchange, is scientifically correct. An investigation in England showed this vegetable to have a fured on the floor for the first time by the temperature one degree below that of the says that genial indgo of good things, Francis B. Thurber, "seldom disagree with the stomach when taken with plenty of pepper and salt, and never when claret is used as a beverage." He says: "I like to take them from the vines in my garden, peel them, slice them down the center nearly to the end so that the four quarters will open, sprinkle in some pepper and salt, and, pressing the quarters together, eat them as I would an apple. Any cucumber thus obtained from the vines in the cool of the morning is delicious, but those having many spines or prickles I have usually found to be the crispest and best."—Medical Classics.

Curesses of the Surf.

To me the ocean is at once the most fascinating and the most horrible sight in the world-this incoming of each smiling blue, white crested wave, that, almost with a purr, creeps up to you and seems to absorb you in its greatness, or else makes you wonderfully conscious of your extreme littleness.

The feline type as represented by a great, beautiful tiger, or this wonderful sea that seizes you with a caress and drags you to destruction in a whirl of its kisses, is so intensely femininel I think that is the reason that men are passionately foud of it; women decidedly afraid. The one rushes in not knowing the duplicity of the eternal feminine as shown by the ocean. The other, knowing her kind, bewares of it. It is the old story of fools rushing in where angels fear to tread.-Bab" in New York Star.

Two "Items of Interest."

There is an able romancer out west somewhere who is keeping the east supplied with excellent "Items of interest." Here are a couple of them: "Lightning played a queer caper on a ranch near Buffalo, W. T., recently. It struck a barb wire fence and for a distance of 400 yards melted the barbs without injuring the strands, and pulled one end of the staples holding the wires to the posts. The extracted ends were neatly turned into corkscrews and nickel plated." "Jim Blevins, living near White Creek, Tox., killed a very large chicken snake a few days ago and noticing the snake's body was nunsually large and ill shaped made an incision and found it to contain a largo cow horn and in the horn a prairie rat. It is supposed that the shake chased the rat into the horn, and to secure the rat swallowed the horn."—New York Sun.

An Increase in "Artist Authors." It is surprising to note what an increase there has been within the last fifteen years in that class known as "artist authors." Thirty-five years ago T. Addison Richards, and the late David H. Strother ("Porte Crayon"), almost held a monopoly in that field. Today we have a veritable army of men doing similar work. W. Hamilton Gibson, Howard Pyle, Allen C. Redwood and Rufus F. Zogbaum are, perhaps, best known, but there is a host of others, espe cially on the comic papers and the daily press, who, while turning out fair work as artists, can write you a neat story or article, or produce any amount of jingling rhymes, Oliver Herford, Harrington, Michael A. Wolf, W. H. MoDengall are a few of those whose work is most frequently seen.—"B. B."

ACCIDENTS AND CRIMES.

THE POLICE OF NEW YORK CAPTURE AN EXTENSIVE FORGER.

Kidnapers Foiled at Chicago-A Worthless Cheek Worked on a St. Paul Cattle Firm. Attempted Assessination in Chicago-A Failing Derrick Kills Two Men. NEW YORK, Aug. 28,-William F. Clark, alias Colt, the forger, was arrested by the police. He has been operating very extensively in this city for some time past. His forgeries will aggregate about $10,000, and his viotims were large business firma. His plan was to call with forged letters of introduction from business friends of his intended victim, pretending to be in the trade and wishing to make extended purchases.

Having secured their coafidence, he wound up by paying for his goods with a check on the Fifth Avenue bank, and bearing the certification sometimes for more than $1,000, large enough always to leave a considerable margin beyond the amount of his purchase, which he received in cash.

Ktdnapers Folled. CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Lawrence Hutchings, two years and eight mouths of age, was kidnaped from Evnnston Sunday afternoon, but fortunately rescued at the Northwestern depot whea the train reached Chicago. When the little fellow was taken off the train he attracted the notice of the police by his cries and frightened actions, and was sure against the falsework (as the support of taken to the waiting room. He told his the superstructure during construction is name and said he was pushed upon the train by two men. A weil dressed man came to the waiting room to claim the boy, but he had such a suspicious manner that the police concluded to hold the boy until given some evidence of ownership. The man disappeared and the child was taken to the Desplaines street statioa. It was later delivered to its father.

An Old Game, but It Worked.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 28.-A man calling himself E. S. Burns, and representing himself to be a lawyer for Savage & Green, of South Omaha, Neb., bought 188 steers from Cunningham & Haas, of St. Paul. Burns presented a draft on Savage & Green for $3,374.20 in payment for the steers. He then disappeared and sold the steers, realizing a nice sum by the transaction, though be could afford to seil them for a loss, as the draft which he gave proved to be absolutely worthless. Savage & Green disclaim having any such man in their employ, and know nothing of the transaction. It is supposed that Burns returned to Omaha.

Life in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.-Joseph Dradznski, living on Thirty-second street, stepped out Sunday night to close a coal house door. Just as he reached the door a maa appeared from the interior and fired five shots at hin. ia rapid succession. One shot took effect in the right arai and one in the right shoulder. The third hit him ia the ieg, and fourth in the neck. The wounded man could give no description of his assailant and knows no cause for the shooting.

Death In an Awful Shape. LOUISVILLE, Aug. 28.—Thomas Leech, a.switchmau in the Jeffersonville, Madison & Indianapolis railroad yards, was killed Sunday evoning under peculiar circumstances. His foot caught in a frog, and he waved to an approaching locomotive to stop. The engineer reversed his eugine, but too late, and the man was cut in two.

A BATTLE RAGING.

Five Hundred Land Grant Settlers Fighting a Sheriff's Posse.

TRINIDAD, Col., Aug. 28.-What may prove long and bloody struggle has begau iu the Maxwell grant at Stoaewell, forty miles west of Trinidad. The sheriff's posse sent to keep the peace was met by armed settlers in number estimated at two to five huadred mea. The settlers demanded the arms of the posse and were refused. The posse thea took up quarters in the Pooler hotel, a large frame building. The settlers endeavored to force an entrance, when the posse opened ilre, E. D. R. Russell, one of the oldest settiers fell dead, and two or three others settlers were wounded. The building was soou riddled with balls. The eye-witness who gave the information left while the conflict was still going on. The citizens are greatly excited. The sheriff is gathering men in numbers to go to the relief of the beseiged posse. It is bolieved that the building will be burned and that the dozen beseiged deputies will be put to death.

The settlers come from the territories of Purgatoire river, from Vermego, N. M., and also from Costello grant ia the mountain fastnesses. It seems useless to oppose them without the militia or regular troops. Pubiic sentiment ia Trinidad is entirely with the settlers. The settler's cavairy is composed of both Americans and Mexicans. Mexicans are painted as if for wnr.

Up to the present writing no more couriers have arrived from the scene of the war, making it impossible to got any further particulars of the fight. It is rumored that Governor Ross of New Mexico, has ordered out troops to present any trouble in that portion of the Maxwell grant which lies in his territory, where thus far no couflicts have occurred. Just what action the governor of Colorado may take in the matter will depend on what news is received from Stonewall. It the menatime the state militia at this point are securing all available horses to start for the seat of the trouble at against a hundred others were also secured. and the United States marshal has left to serve them. It is feared that the serving of these papers will cause another outbreak and perhaps more bloodshed.

THE PRESSURE WAS TOO GREAT.

False Work of the Huntington Bridge at Cincinnati Swept Away-Loss $150,000. CINCINNATI, Aug. 28.—At 10 a.m. Sunday the false work of the main span of the Huatington bridge, in process of construction, between the foot of Smith street and the Covington shore, gave way and fell with a loud crash, which could be heard for severai miles.

The disaster was brought about by the high river and the immense driftwood which pressed against the structure.

Nine freight cars, three loaded with rairroad rails and six with piliag, which were placed on the bridge to steady it, were our ried down in the wreck.

The trestlework was 559 feet long and 100 feet high. On top of this was what is known as a "traveler," 164 feet high, which was used to take up the iron for the bridge and carry it along.

Superinteadent Milikin and Geaeral Superintendent R. A. Simmons made every effort to avert the disaster, but in vain. A large pile protector, with two lines of booms formed of coal barges, had been nnchored above the span to throw off the driftwood. But the drift got under the barges and massed solidiy against the piles. Tho pressure against the falsework (as the support of called) was too great, and it finally gave way. The traveler fell first and then the trestle parted and feli.

The Aiex, Montgomery, Hercules Carrel and several other towboats started after the wreck and the thirty barges which had been swept oil. At or near Delhi anost of the timber, piling, plaaks, beams, etc., were recovered. While engaged in saving some of the wreck at Delhi the leg of Harry Dohcrty, foreman of hoisting on board the Hercules Carrel, was broken above the knee and his body badly wrenched by one of the ropes used in drawing in the wreck saapping and catching him about the body. It is feared his injuries are fatal.

The loss to the Phoenix Bridge company, of Phoenixviile, Pa., the contractors is placed at about $155,000.

The construction of the hridge was to have been the quickest on record, and was to have been completed January 15, 1889. Work was begun in March. It was to cost $6,000,000. The work will no doubt be delayed, although Engineer Simmons says if the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway company will stand the increased expense the work may be completed in time.

The Skeleton Captured,

RISING SUN, Iad., Aug. 28.-The tow boats, Al. Martin aud Alex. Montgomery, succeeded in landing the skeleton of the Huntington bridge below here Sunday evening, after several hours' hard work. It is badiy broken up.
